

Two essential requirements for the creation of a top category golf course are: a privileged setting and a first rate architect. Both exist in Alcanada, Alcudia. A virgin terrain gently sloping down towards the shoreline, with its pine, olive and oak trees and a marvellous view of the island of Alcanada with the lighthouse in the foreground, and the mountains of the Sierra de Levante in the background. And secondly the legendary golf course architects Robert Trent Jones Sen. and Jun., who designed a magnificent 18 hole golf course. To play here, is a must for every golfer.
